Taking too much paracetamol can cause serious liver harm.
People should avoid taking multiple medicines that contain paracetamol at the same time.
If an overdose is suspected, users should seek medical help immediately.
People with liver disease or heavy alcohol use should seek medical advice before use.