Paracetamol is commonly used to relieve mild to moderate pain.
It may also be used to reduce fever when used as directed on the label.
Users should follow the dosage instructions provided by a healthcare professional or product label.